TRUEFIT
for exterior walls and ceilings... has unique compressibility characteristics which allow it to be "squeeze-fit" between studs, joists or rafters. Perfect for insulating walls, floors, and ceilings, particularly where there are uneven spaces.

TRUEFIT was designed by TRUEFOAM to provide a "squeeze-fit" solution to the insulation challenge posed by uneven openings between studs, joists and rafters.

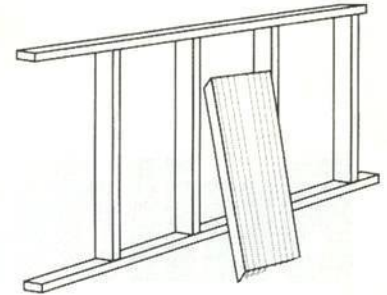

TRUEFIT panels are manufactured from TRUEFOAM expanded polystyrene (EPS). A special design feature allows TRUEFIT insulation panels to be compressed across their width. This permits a tight, draft-free insulation project even in less-than-ideal circumstances.

Its unique design makes TRUEFIT an excellent choice for home improvement applications in floors, walls and cathedral ceilings.

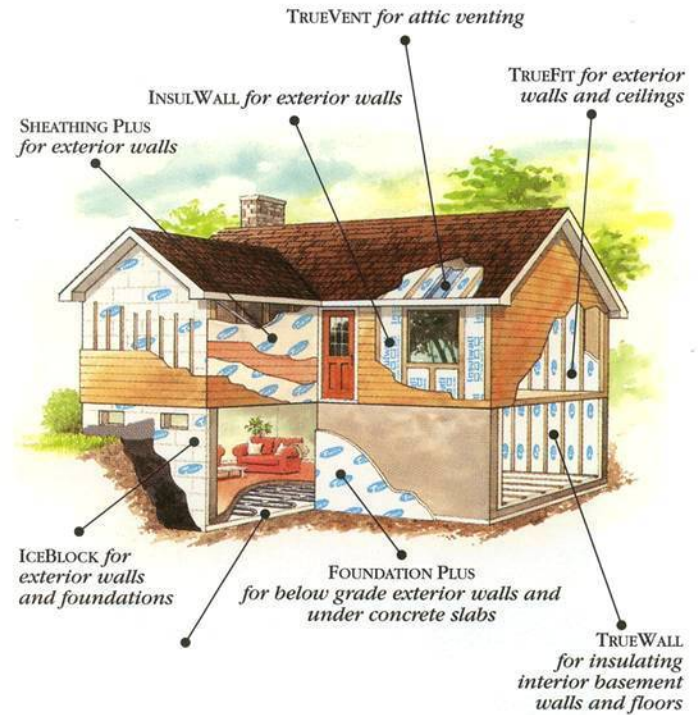

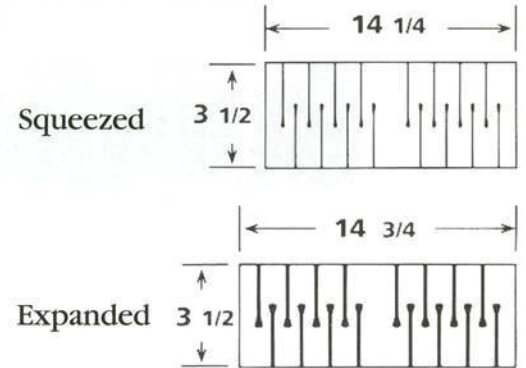

TRUEFIT shares certain key advantages common to all TRUEFOAM EPS insulation products. It is breathable and highly resistant to condensation. Its thermal qualities are practically unaffected by moisture or moving air. It cannot sag or settle once installed. It is non-toxic and releases no dust or irritating fibres. TRUEFOAM EPS contains no ozone-depleting CFC or HCFC. It is of no nutritional interest whatsoever to insects or other potential pests and is very resistant to mildew.

TRUEFIT is custom manufactured and is available in widths up to 24 inches, lengths to 8 feet and thicknesses 3 1/2" and up. In addition to its usefulness in home insulation, the custom fit and moisture resistant qualities of TRUEFIT make it an excellent choice for agricultural and freezer applications.

TRUEFIT is part of an integrated system of TRUEFOAM insulation products designed for cost effectiveness, durability and versatility. TRUEFOAM insulation products can substantially reduce heating costs while protecting the integrity and long-term comfort of your home.
